Officials join in study of water authority

By James F. Burchik

Euclid will explore the possibility of building its own water plant and forming a water department. Councilmen and the Administration have expressed interest in the move, ostensibly to reduce water rates and improve service. CITY OFFICIALS CLAIM that the city can do a better job than the city of Cleveland. Cleveland supplies city water which is pumped through Euclid water lines, and carries out service such as water leaks and other repair. The initiative was brought to light jointly by Councilmen Robert A. Otcasek and Edward J. Eckart at the council meeting on Monday.

OTCASEK SAID AN ALTERNATIVE to the new department would be to purchase water on a bulk rate from Cleveland. Eckart, chairman of the public service committee of council, said the city should create a water department "so we don't have to wait for downtown politics" to get service. Councilman Frank J. Chukayne added that the city now "doesn't get the full measure of service" because trucks from the Cleveland department "spend a lot of traveling time" getting to trouble spots in Euclid. OTCASEK INJECTED THAT THE CITY assess prospects of federal grants to aid in the construction and operating of a water department.

Initial comments on the idea suggest that this department would be operated much the same way as the city's wastewater treatment plant, which according to Mayor Harry J. Knuth is a regional operation because it services Euclid and a number of outlying communities. Service Director Anthony J. Giunta will prepare a report on the matter, zeroing in on costs for the city. He will present the report to council and the Administration within 90 days. Council also approved ordinance proclaiming a moratorium on new construction of gas stations in the city. The measure, introduced by Councilman Eckart, will be in effect for one year. At the end of that year council will review its action. Whether or not the moratorium would be extended after that year depends on the status of the energy crunch. In line with gas station ordinance, council redefined "abandoned gas station." If a station goes unoccupied for 180 days now, it is considered abandoned and action would be taken to have it raised. The previous time allowed was 90 days. More time should be given, according to Law Director Patrick R. Rocco, in order to give the city more punch in the courts. Gas station proprietors who leave their stations vacant for more than the 180 days can no longer argue in court that they (SEE PAGE 5)

Euclid ponders fate of center

Talk of a million dollar civic-cultural center in Sims Park has nearly faded away. City officials admit there are too many other dollar considerations. So the dream of two city administrations has been shuffled behind all sorts of development. PRESSING DEVELOPMENTS INCLUDE: the Briardale property; constructions of four underpasses; an $11 million wastewater treatment plant addition, and prospects of a regional shopping mall on the Chase Brass property. "There is more being done in this city than in any other city around. There is a limit to what the taxpayer can do," lamented Mayor Harry J. Knuth. "It's a question of money and how many things we can work at at once." Meanwhile, the Euclid Cultural Council has not lost sight of the center for Sims Park. It has been a topic of discussion at many meetings. Plans for the center were first released by former Mayor Kenneth Sims early in 1969. "We feel the land there is most appropriate. We feel it was accumulated for that reason. Since it would be aesthetically attractive, the land could be used without damaging the surroundings," said Evelyn Stroud, vice president of the council. MRS. STROUD STRESSED that there is a "definite" need for the center in this community and that residents ought to go to great lengths to make it a reality. The council has relied on private donations for its many activities, but this time it might be wise for residents to carry the burden of payment for a civic-cultural center through a bond issue, she said.

St. Joe senior picked as aide to congressman

By Ernest J. Neumann

The life of a page in the U.S. Congress is anything but glamorous. But that didn't deter John Cregan from trying to become one. THE 17-YEAR-OLD St. Joseph High School senior discovered that his determination paid off, as 22nd district Cong. Charles A. Vanik appointed him as a congressional page last week. John began his term, which runs from January until mid-June, this past Tuesday. His duties as a page involve primarily keeping Vanik and the Democratic majority in communication with the world outside Washington, D.C. John also must run as a liaison between Vanik and his fellow congressman. "IT'S NOT AN EASY job," cautioned Vanik. "The typical day in the life of a page begins at 6:15 every morning and extends well into the evening." With the issue of President Nixon's impeachment expected to come up in the House during the next few months, sessions of Congress will often last into the early morning hours. That's when stamina and desire are proven, said Vanik. While in the Capital, John will also be attending school, but it will be a radical departure from the high school approach to education. THE CAPITAL PAGE SCHOOL is very similar to a college or university. Its students spend only two to four hours a day in actual classroom situations, while complimentary individual study-time is increased. (SEE PAGE 5)

MAYOR HARRY J. KNUTH, making a characteristic gesture, is captured in this ink drawing by Journal artist Clarence E. Ashburn. Knuth presented his state of the City Address before city council and residents at the council meeting on Monday.

McGraw has quick draw; wins reversal on firing

John T. McGraw has won a five-month battle to be reinstated on the Euclid Police force. Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge George White ordered that McGraw be reinstated with full back pay and benefits. THE DECISION REACHED in county court last week amounted to a reversal of penalties meted out by Mayor Harry J. Knuth, the Euclid Civil Service Commission, and Police Chief Frank W. Payne. City officials ejected McGraw from the department -- in varying degrees from suspension to an outright firing. They argued that McGraw submitted an improper excuse for an illness. According to Richard McGraw, uncle and lawyer for the policeman, Judge White found that the departmental policy for absence due to illness is arbitrary, capricious, unreasonable and unconstitutional. The policy requires a doctor's excuse for just one day's absence because of illness. "This is the sweetest victory I've ever had. I was fighting for nothing less than somebody's good name. It is especially sweet when the name is your own," said the lawyer. Nephew John, on the other hand, was somewhat subdued in his reaction to the favorable decision. "I wish I could be jumping up and down, but you get a little bit worn out after a while. I'm thankful it's over with. It's been a long, drawn out, tiring episode. I'm glad the judge reached the decision we wanted," he said. MCGRAW WILL RECEIVE BACK PAY which he estimates to be about $5000. The decision is retroactive to Aug. (SEE PAGE 5)

Briardale future in State of City

Mayor Harry J. Knuth, in a hefty display of community pride, outlined 18 areas in municipal government he has pegged for improvement in the upcoming years. For an hour and 40 minutes, the mayor reviewed 1973 and made recommendations for the new year and the future. Council need only to take the recommendations in advisement. Out of that message came word of a new proposal for the redevelopment of Lake Shore Village or Briardale. THE MAYOR HAS TOUCHED BASE with a company by the name of St. Clair Service Corp. That firm, formed especially to develop Briardale, is headed by developer Milan Kapel, builder Frank Berzin and realtor A. M. Pena. Harold R. Swope, president of St. Clair Savings and Loan Assoc., is listed as president of the firm that wants to develop Briardale. Knuth said their proposal for sale of single family and two, three and four family dwelling units, and a nine hole public golf course "has a lot of merit." THE CORPORATION HAS CONSIDERED purchasing or leasing the 126 acres from the city. Knuth prefers "that the city 'retain control of the land' by leasing it to the firm, but the firm has said under those terms it could only construct rentals. Realtor Pena said his firm will submit Mayor Harry J. Knuth hinted that a bond issue may be needed to finance the Norfolk and Western Railroad underpass, the fourth underpass slated for the city. It is presently in the early planning stages. "We'll have to go to the people," the mayor said. He indicated that the voters could decide on the issue in the upcoming November election. No specifics have been determined other than the city is hard pressed for monies to finance the underpass. drawings, plot plans and other pertinent data "when we get some direction from council." Council President Michael Kosmetos said the redevelopment of the Briardale land will be "the first order of business" at the next executive committee meeting of council, a council work session. (SEE PAGE 5)

District 18 race is on; Dems scramble for seat

A Democratic scramble is on for the state representative seat being vacated by Euclid Democrat John Timothy McCormack who is running for the Ohio Senate. AMONG THE CHALLENGERS are Euclid Councilman Frederick J. Simonelli and Dennis E. Eckart, 23-year-old son of Edward J. Eckart, the local councilman. Two other Euclid Democrats, Michael J. DeGrandis and John W. Opeka, have taken out nominating petitions from the Cuyahoga County Board of Elections. However, indications are that neither is a serious contender for the District 18 seat.

Then there are Daniel A. Pavsek, of Richmond Heights, and Ronald Suster and Henry Medved, both of Cleveland, who have taken out petitions. OF THE THREE PAVSEK is considered the serious candidates. Suster has wavered somewhat, saying he "is considering entering the field" and "presently evaluating a number of contingencies." Medved was a candidate for the post two years ago, but lost out in the primary. He could not be reached for comment. The only Republican so far to enter the race is Diane J. Ryder. Her husband, Edward, was unseated in the 18th District. (SEE PAGE 5)

Service crew braces for 'condition white'

By Timothy P. Misny

During the snowy winter months, happiness for the Euclid Service Department is the sight of black pavement. The city's 38-man force headed by Director Anthony J. Giunta, has prided itself in maintaining the streets to facilitate the safe flow of traffic. There are 265 streets spanning 138 miles. "I'M VERY FORTUNATE and the city is very fortunate to have a department like Euclid's. I'm very proud of the service which we give," said Giunta. "I say we're first," said Mayor Harry J. Knuth in reference to the city's service. "The people in this city get the most for their tax money. It's very seldom when we have a complaint." The reason for this consummate service explained John Piscitello, streets superintendent, is the combination of "of excellent equipment, dedicated men, and an equitable understanding with the city's government." SEVEN SALT TRUCKS equipped with plows and 16 snow plow trucks are mobilized when condition white is put into effect. These trucks are alerted by a special weather detector. This device, which costs the city $300 each month during January and February gives the department a round the clock report of the weather situation.

Operating these vehicles is a unit of 38 men of which 25 actually do the driving. Heading the corps is Piscitello, who works in tandem with chief foreman Manny Riera. Under Riera are his four assistants, Jerry Maxwell, Dan Praznovsky, Lou Vedmar, and Bob Markel. "All the men work until the streets are cleaned. First we go after the main thruways, then the bus routes, then the side streets it's 24-hour, seven day a week job. "ALSO, I FEEL that we must maintain a good cooperation and understanding with the people and the government in order to continue to make these services available. As long as the monies keep coming in, we'll provide this type of service," continued Piscitello. It is vital that the service department be allocated the amount of dollars that they've enjoyed in the recent years. For example, the most recent snow storm to hit Euclid on Jan. 9, cost the taxpayers $11,635.64. And on the average, the city experiences three storms. THIS EXPENSE INVOLVES the cost of manpower, salt, mechanics' labor, and gasoline. There were 769 hours of manpower which ran $3,200, while 650 tons of salt cost $6,545. The mechanics' labor and the price of fuel was $1,250 and $640. (SEE PAGE 5)

C.W. BAXTER (CENTER), PRESIDENT of Euclid National Bank, looks over the counter as the FBI investigates the Jan. 14 robbery of the ENB office at 22818 Lake Shore Blvd. The Reward Committee of the Cuyahoga Reward Plan will pay up to $2000 to the first person or group of persons giving information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons or person who robbed the bank. There are no suspects in the $900 theft.

THE HOME GAME

by MARY FUREY CRYMES

SHOE SHUSHER — New shoes squeak? With a large darning needle or skewer, punch three or four tiny holes in the sole's instep, right behind the ball of the foot. Nary a sound again.

JAM JOG — Plastic, squeeze-type catsup and mustard bottles are great for jelly. Kids love 'em to decorate toast and bread, and they're handy to fill jelly doughnuts and sandwich cookies.

COOKING CADDY — A tea caddy is useful if your family likes the idea of garlic but not the full taste. Put a peeled clove in the metal caddy and drop it in soups, stews, chili and spaghetti sauce. Remove any time you think the flavor's right.

MEAT MUFFINS — Make a large batch of your favorite meat loaf mixture. Put paper cups in a muffin tin and fill them. Freeze, then remove cups and store in plastic bags. You'll have individual meat loaves for serving later, to be topped with sauce, cheese, or surrounded by mashed potatoes.

GREEN GOODY — Grate a half cup of Romano cheese, low in calories, high in taste, and mix with a half cup of buttermilk. Pour this over hot, seasoned broccoli and toss. Rich, and less caloric than cheese sauce.

MIL DEW MUSTS — If clothes mildew in the hamper, remove and rub detergent into stains right away. Launder as usual and if the stains remain, sponge with undiluted hydrogen peroxide. Use this on the hamper, too, and let dry thoroughly before placing soiled laundry in again.

SOUR SAVVY — Love sour cream, but hate its cost? Make a perfectly acceptable substitute yourself with a cup of evaporated milk. Add 3 tablespoons of vinegar to the milk and let it sit at least an hour at room temperature. Season with a dash of salt.

Continental Bank to make $20 million in loans available

William A. Bowen, president of Continental Bank, Cleveland, Ohio reaffirmed the bank's confidence in the growth of Cleveland by announcing that Continental Bank is making $20 million immediately available for loans to Cleveland business organizations both large and small. Bowen added that this $20 million will be made available at competitive interest rates and that, "There are virtually no floor or ceiling limits on the amounts available to individual businesses."

Bowen pointed out that this money is in addition to a substantial on-going fund of money available for individual installment loans. This fund covers loans for cars, home improvements, vacations, bill consolidation and other personal uses. Bowen added that, "Continental Bank is continuing to lend money to home owners at reduced interest rates for home improvements such as insulation and new storm windows designed to help ease the energy crisis."

To further emphasize the bank's readiness to lend this $20 million, Bowen announced that the Continental Bank loan officers and managers are prepared to service any size loan requested. All lending officers have participated in loan seminars and continue to sharpen their reactions in additional specialized sessions geared to the current needs of the Cleveland business community.

According to Bowen, "These seminars have enhanced our capacity to make astute judgments and take quick, decisive action to fulfill the needs of our customers."

Wickliffe JC'S endorse anti-VD state legislation

Venereal Disease represents the most serious communicable disease problem in the United States today, according to the Wickliffe Jaycees. More than two million Americans contracted gonorrhea last year. Another 540,000 were unknowing carriers of syphilis. VD has cut across all racial, ethnic and economic groups. People between the ages of 14 and 32 account for nearly 3/4 of the daily case load. A half million new cases are expected this year and this represents, according to some health officials, only one in eight cases that will be reported. Syphilis and gonorrhea cost American taxpayers $145 million. When diagnosed by a doctor, venereal diseases can be easily cured. Without treatment, these diseases will continue their physical damage.

At this time, there are two bills in the Ohio House of Representatives that, if passed, will provide treatment and education for venereal disease. House Bill 960 will amend the Ohio Revised Code to require boards of health to provide free venereal disease treatment. It will establish and maintain clinics for treatment and will establish preventive programs. House Bill 961 will amend the Ohio Revised Code to require the public schools to offer courses in venereal disease education in grades seven through twelve.

THE WICKLIFFE JAYCEES have voted their support for both of these House Bills and urge everyone to write to their Representative to show their support for the bills. The Representative for western Lake County is James Mueller. His address is 12165 Heath Road, Chesterland, Ohio 44026. The Wickliffe Jaycees ask each individual to take the time to write a post card to indicate their support. It is only through strong community and government action that we can eliminate the VD problem.

Slow down, Tim

With a great deal of regret, I read about Tim McCormack's decision to run for the Ohio Senate seat currently being occupied by Mrs. Bolton's grandson. As a resident of Ward I, and a former McCormack supporter, I have watched Tim run for three political offices in the last three years. To my way of thinking, he has spent more of his political career running for elective office than he has serving in office. Considering the fact that he has spent only one year in his House seat, I doubt that he has gained the insight, sponsored legislation, or even gained the seniority to take on the job of representing the people of the entire Senate district.

Tim McCormack spoke of "upholding our basic freedoms and rights" in his announcement. There is still plenty of work for Mr. McCormack right here in this House district. I hope he will focus his attention on this district before running for the fourth office in four years.

Sports coverage

Since your paper is named "The Euclid News-Journal" I thought that you would be interested in what goes on in Euclid. This includes Euclid Senior High School. I can tell that you don't seem to care a lot. If you didn't know, Euclid High has a wrestling team and a good one I think. You very rarely have an article on them. Did you know that they beat Valley Forge for the first time in 12 years? Probably not and I don't think you really care. Not one word about their victory was published. Well, maybe you don't care but I know a lot of people who do, including myself. Wrestling maybe isn't your favorite sport but it is a hard one. It takes a lot of practice and strength to win and Euclid has both. So when you are wondering what to fill your Sports pages with maybe you will think of the Euclid High wrestling team if you have some spare room in your paper.

Editor's note: Because of early holiday deadlines, sports pages in issues of Dec. 27 and Jan. 3 were greatly curtailed. Since the Euclid-Valley Forge wrestling match did not occur before deadline, adequate coverage was impossible.

A letter to pupils

I appreciate the problem that you have of going to school in the dark and that there is some question of whether Daylight Saving Time in Ohio is saving us any energy.

Under the Daylight Saving Time Energy Conservation Act of 1973, passed by Congress, Governor Gilligan was authorized to request Ohio be exempted from Daylight Saving Time up until January 6th when the act went into effect. Upon that request, President Nixon was authorized to consider granting such an exemption, but he was not obligated to grant it. Governor Gilligan, in the spirit of a national energy saving program, did not request such an exemption.

For Ohio to request such an exemption now would be extremely difficult and time-consuming, considering the hearings which would have to be held and the arguments which would take place. Having Ohio shift on its own to Eastern Saving Time is an extremely difficult question involving not only our schools, but our business and travel arrangements with surrounding states. It is very unlikely, furthermore, that any such legislation would pass the Legislature here in Columbus, and the Governor has indicated he would not sign such legislation. Therefore, my suggestion is that individual school districts alter the time at which you go to school, if they so choose, in these next two months, when we all realize it is dark until nearly 9:00 o'clock a.m. If the school district decided, for one reason or another, which may very well be justified, not to move the time of school from its usual starting hour, realize that lateness by individuals will not be punishable. Also realize, in two months when the day becomes considerably longer, the problem will be eliminated.

Basically, I am afraid we have to "grin and bear it" and just hope we have enough energy to keep ourselves warm. We should be grateful that people throughout the country are cooperating to save energy and that, thus far, moving to Daylight Saving Time has not increased the number of accidents by school children going to school in Ohio. Thank you for your letter and do not hesitate to contact me about matters in the future.

THERE'S OPTIMISM a plenty prevailing at the Cleveland Convention Center this week and three Euclid residents have helped put the atmosphere in a proper perspective. Boats of all sizes, some 600 in all with a value of over $5.5 million have been assembled by the Lake Erie Marine Trades Association. The non-profit group has one big purpose - to stimulate water sport activity and safety education.

General Manager of the Boat Show is Norm Schultz. Ellie Gebacz has been a big behind the scenes helper while well known Andy Cunningham is involved with the show's Public Relations Staff.

The show winds up on Sunday, January 27th and it offers a real change of pace from the existing weather miseries we've been having.

BEING REMEMBERED is most rewarding especially when a couple of fine Euclid "products" like Jack and Burt Zucker help recall their involvement in our town's youth baseball activities. They have been doing a great job in guiding Zucker Marine since dad Al decided to stick with Florida sunshine.

MISSED INDEED by the youngsters and their parents as well as Roosevelt School faculty is Alice Jambor. After nearly two decades of guiding and guarding the children across East 200th street and Monterey, Alice has decided to put away her whistle and badge of authority to "catch up on the housework".

EUCLID BEACH PARK with all its gaiety, fun, excitement of family frolics could help make a visit to the now being remodeled MacDonald's at Lake Shore Blvd. and East 169th an experience of Nostalgia.

Owner Don Smith and wife Edna Mae have a special feeling for the now gone amusement park. They met at Dwight's Restaurant on the Lake.

Thus the interior of the new home of MacDonald's across from Villa Angela will carry an interior motif of "old Euclid Beach" through pictures and paintings.

SNOWPLOWING is great but one Euclidite who is eager to get going outdoors strictly in landscaping is young John Polito.

He doesn't want his growing yard business to get too involved comes this fall.

Especially since Kathy Buckner is sporting a sparkler presented by John and wedding bells are due to ring come November.

THAT'S FOR THE BIRDS! -- is the big squirrel chit chat around Euclid General Hospital these days and it's all because of a Hilarious House!

For months the birds around the hospital were getting short changed on food supplied in open containers. This was just fine for the furry fellows.

EGH Director Jay Collins spotted the new type bird feeder in a magazine last fall and exclaimed "that's for our fine feathered friends".

Now the birds have their food and the squirrels are spoofted to no end because a counter-balanced feeding platform cuts off the food supply when the four legged visitors climb aboard.

There aren't many things that can be more frustrating to a driver than to sit at an intersection waiting for the green light. Quite often tempers rise and patience runs out especially if the waiting seems extra long.

But, if for instance you approach an intersection and the light is red and a little white light on top of the traffic signal is blinking, you will soon hear a siren approaching.

Within seconds a piece of Fire Apparatus will rumble on through or a fast moving ambulance will zoom around the standing traffic which you will notice has stopped from all directions.

This little blinking light is called a Rad-o-lite. As a fire truck or police car gets an emergency call, this gadget is activated from a transmitter on the vehicle.

As the emergency vehicle approaches within a pre-set range of an intersection, the traffic signal turns red to both directions of traffic.

Then as the emergency car passes beyond the pre-set range of their Rad-o-lite transmitter, the traffic light is reactivated. The range is determined by the amount of traffic using the intersection.

Waiting for the light to change may take a few seconds longer than a normal light setting but the little blinking white light is your clue that there is an emergency. Just take it easy and wait.

Euclid Mury Court

Paul J. Hribar was the acting judge in the Euclid Municipal Court last week for Robert F. Niccum who was away at a Judge's conference at Saw Mill Creek in Huron, Ohio.

Three men accused of parking on the sidewalk were all found guilty and fined $15. The first man answered to the charge that he "had been parking on the sidewalk for years."

The second said he saw someone else parked on the sidewalk and did like wise. The third man said he noticed a space between the first two and parked there. All this was during last week's snow storm.

AN ELDERLY man who was charged with assault told the judge that it happened this way. "I was driving along when this person passed me on the left side and I thought that he didn't know how to drive," said the man, who followed the car to a parking lot on Euclid Ave.

"I swung at him. I was just trying to help the police because they can't see everything." Even though the man swung, he missed, which was why he wasn't charged with battery. He said he had emphysema and if the man had swung back it probably would have killed him.

"If he hit I would have been dead. I did wrong, I admit that. I shouldn't have swung at him. But I don't care for nothing. I'm just a mean, mean old man."

"ARE YOU MARRIED?" said Judge Hribar.

"Yes", answered the man.

"How do you get along?"

"We don't," said the man. The man then recalled his war time experiences (World War II) relating that in Burma when a man has stolen something they cut off his hand.

Judge Hribar retorted that in Africa when they have a rogue elephant they cut him loose from the pack. The man then looked up at the judge.

"Judge, do you want a good shot gun man?" The judge replied that he didn't.

The judge asked the man if he wanted to make a plea and explained that he could plead, not guilty, no contest or guilty. "I will plead no contest, not guilty and guilty," said the man.

Safety forces hailed in Ward 4 survey

Ward 4 Councilman Frederick J. Simonelli has compiled the results of a recent survey of his ward.

The findings: The safety forces received a high efficiency rating. Other departments fared well too. And the only shortcomings were with street repair and bus service.

About 106 responses were weighed while 7000 questionnaires were distributed. Despite the low number, Simonelli insisted that the responses were representative because they came from points throughout his ward.

THE QUESTION WAS ASKED, "How do you rate the following city services during the past year?" Residents could respond "excellent, good, fair or poor."

POLICE DEPARTMENT: 63.0 percent - Excellent; 23.9 percent - good; 5.5 percent - fair; 2.2 percent - poor; 4.4 percent - no opinion.

FIRE DEPARTMENT: 63.0 percent excellent; 26.1 percent - good; none - fair; none - poor; 10.9 percent - no opinion.

TRASH COLLECTION: 30.4 percent - excellent;

36.9 percent - good; 15.2 percent - fair; 8.7 percent - poor; 8.7 percent - no opinion.

STREET REPAIR: 13.0 percent - excellent; 34.8 percent - good; 23.9 percent - fair; 17.4 percent - poor; 10.9 percent - no opinion.

BUS SERVICE: 6.5 percent - excellent; 21.7 percent - good; 10.9 percent - fair; 28.7 percent - poor; 32.8 percent - no opinion.

"We can clearly see the genuine appreciation by my people for the outstanding work of Euclid's safety forces," Simonelli said.

"This is a strong commendation for those departments, right from the leadership through the men on the streets," he added.

The councilman noted that nobody in the survey scored the fire department less than an excellent or good rating.

TRASH COLLECTION also did well in the survey with a 67.3 percent combined excellent and good rating.

"There are a few trouble spots where citizens report sloppy handling of cans and refuse, but on the whole I think this rating indicates satisfaction with the efficiency and performance of this operation, Simonelli injected.

Simonelli said residents did not score street repair low because of "the deplorable and inexcusable neglect of Glenridge Rd."

"The people of Ward 4 won't be satisfied, and I won't be satisfied, until the city does the job that needs to be done on Glenridge," he said.

Bus service in Ward 4 was rated poorly.

"This type of response should indicate a need for renewed efforts to make our transit system more useful to the people whose taxes support it, Simonelli said.

THE COUNCILMAN SAID other areas of concern of his constituents are: flooding in the East 22nd St. and Euclid Ave. area; return of trash pulling service; return of city trash collection service to condominiums; development of Briardale; formation of Regional Transit Authority; tree trimming and new trees.

UNDER THE CROSSING GATE is where this Euclid motorist found himself when a train interrupted an early evening traffic jam on East 260th St. last Thursday. Though three cars in front of him were stopped on the tracks when the first warning lights went on, they were able to avert tragedy by scooting under the opposite gate before it came down. This driver, however, not able to back up because the line of cars behind him was so long, had to wait for the train to pass with his auto in a state of highway limbo. While the gate appears to be resting on the roof, it actually stopped approximately a quarter of an inch away.

CONSPICUOUS BY ITS ABSENCE, however, was note of a replacement for Shore Junior High School. No mention of it was made. Knuth has expressed disenchantment with the idea of a school located on the land.

- Knuth's recommendations are:
 - Widening of East 222nd St. from Euclid Ave. to Lake Shore Blvd.
 - A retention basin at East 222nd St. and Euclid Ave. on recreation property. This could help to alleviate basement flooding. A toboggan and sled riding area could be constructed there.
 - Conservatory and civic center and a boat marina at Sims Park. The center could add to the passive atmosphere of the park. Horticulture classes could meet there, as well as other groups.
 - A new city hall, perhaps north of the present building on East 222nd St. Expansion of the existing hall is too costly, the mayor said. That building could be used for a historical or a civic center.
 - New court house with underground parking. This move can provide needed space for the court which is now housed in the police station.
 - Expansion of Euclid Fire Station No. 1. More space is needed for training and other everyday needs.
 - New lighting in the Shore Center Shopping District. High intensity sodium lights are on order. They will provide three times the light with the same amount of wattage.
 - Encourage business to remain in Euclid. The mayor will have Carl E. Tomcik continue his work in this area, including development of a "mini-mall" at Shore Center.
 - Regional Shopping mall. Mayor cited voter approval of the mall. Commitments have come from The May Company and The Higbee Company. Knuth said Francis Coy, May Company president, told him the May store here "will be the finest store in the country."
 - Rapid transit extension from Windermere in East Cleveland into Lake County. He noted that he has asked that plans for the fourth underpass in the city include space for additional tracks for rapid transit.

- Purchase of new rescue truck for the fire department. It would carry fog devices and other emergency equipment and could be on call round the clock.
- At the Moss Point sewer outlet on Lake Erie, furnish benches and a snack bar for senior citizens. The location is convenient for fishing.
- Join with Cleveland, Euclid and the county on a new underpass on Dille Road. Widen Nottingham Rd. north to Interstate 90.
- Move the 200 bed emergency hospital unit at Noble School to the new city bus garage.
- Provide a storage area for campers, trucks, trailers and boats. City property and property owned by developer Milan Kapel, both on the South Marginal, could be combined for a well-lighted, fenced-in lot.
- The plan for Briardale for single family homes approved by council should be changed. "We are living in changing times," the mayor said. He favors a plan much the same as that proposed by the St. Clair Service Corp. He stressed that the property "not be sold," but leased to retain control of it.
- Purchase of the triangle at St. Clair Ave. and East 222nd St. and widen the area under the Penn Central Railroad bridge.
- Support countywide transit. Increase equipment, reduce fares, increase service. He recommends a one per cent sales tax to subsidize the mass transportation system. He emphasized the use of electric or nuclear energy to operate the system, rather than gasoline.
- About 100 persons heard the mayor's message.

trict by McCormack in the statewide election two years ago. Mrs. Ryder is a fourth grade science teacher at Sterling Morton Elementary School in Mentor. She is a 1970 graduate of Cleveland State University. She resides with her husband at 471 East 260th St.

HER PRIMARY REASON for running is "dissatisfaction with unresponsive, dishonest government" and her belief that "it is time for the average citizen, not the professional politician to become directly involved in government."

No independents have filed for the District 18 State House seat. Deadline for filing is 4 p.m. Feb. 6.

"The things I believe in, and have fought for as a member of Euclid City Council for over two years, must be pursued with determination and energy in the state legislature," Simonelli said.

"I believe that the experience I will carry with me to Columbus, experience in dealing with peoples' needs, will allow me to be an effective and responsive representative for our people," he said.

SIMONELLI, 26, HAD AN IMPRESSIVE 62 percent of the vote in his successful reelection bid to city council. Of course, he would have to relinquish that seat should he win the state office.

His campaign platform is "environmental protection, jobs for all those willing to work, a fair and equitable tax structure, consumer protection, honest answers to our energy needs, and integrity and openness in government."

THIS IS YOUNG ECKART'S first bid for public office. He has, however, steered his father's successful council election and worked in the campaign of State Rep. McCormack, whose seat he is seeking.

"The issue as I see it is whether the special interests in the state are going to be served in the legislature, or if the legislature is going to be more sensitive to the needs and demands of the individual constituents," Eckart said.

13, the day which culminated in his dismissal from the department.

The city will not appeal the decision by the Common Pleas Court.

"The city of Euclid will abide by the decision of the court and based upon the recommendation of my law director, will not pursue the matter any further," Mayor Knuth said in a prepared statement.

"I DO WANT TO SAY that my decision as ex-officio Director of Public Safety and Mayor of the City of Euclid in the hearing on Patrolman McGraw, was based upon the facts presented to me and my knowledge of Patrolman McGraw's record of performance as a policeman. I believe that I am obligated to provide the citizens of Euclid with the best possible police protection and must require of each officer the highest degree of personal and technical skills. I believe that his degree of skill has not been met according to the official's records of performance in this case," the mayor continued in the statement.

"I would also say that there seems to be an apparent trend in today's society to disregard the decisions and recommendations of the chiefs of police and safety directors by civil service commissions and the courts. This trend disturbs me," he added.

KNUTH SAID HE FELT the court decision would set a "precedent" which would leave city employees open to disregard the departmental ruling on absences.

Knuth said he will meet with Law Director Patrick R. Rocco and Police Chief Payne and Fire Chief George Langa to review rules of the safety forces "to see if we want to make any changes."

McGraw also has a lawsuit in federal court charging discrimination by the police department. He claims his superiors are denying him "the right to go to college" by not assigning him a shift which would fit in his class schedule at Cleveland State University.

However, when he returns to work and provided he is returned to a shift which would follow his school schedule, his attorney will recommend that that suit be dropped. This suit is filed in conjunction with another patrolman, Thomas Hoinski, whose portion of the suit is still pending in court.

Service...

"It's expensive!" said Piscitello, "We had about five inches of snow. Of course, if we would of had more, it would of cost us more for everything."

"If the people can see where and what their tax dollars are being used for, I don't think they'd mind it," commented Guinta.

THE CREWS' WORK is not limited to salting and plowing the streets, explains Riera. Checking water leaks, catch basins, and icy spots fall under his jurisdiction. He also repairs sewers and answers complaints.

"We have three shifts with six men on each," said Riera, "When we get hit, we put all the men out at once. These men are on 24-hour call."

"I can't foresee any problems," concluded Guinta. "The service can be maintained. We'll keep the streets black!"

During the time John will be serving as a congressional page, he will be entirely on his own. He is expected to support himself on his salary which is approximately $500 per month.

There are no dormitory facilities provided for pages, although approved housing is available. And, if the need should arise, someone is always nearby to discuss the problems that pages might find themselves embroiled in.

"I'M GOING THERE with the mind that I'm going to like what I will be doing," asserted John. "It's going to be a very fascinating experience for me, one that I won't regret."

John is interested in law and politics. He hopes to find a career in the political arena when he graduates from college.

At present, John Carroll and Georgetown Universities hold his interest, although he isn't sure which school he will be attending come September.

CANDIDATES FOR PAGES are selected by participating high schools, who utilize their own methods to determine a representative.

The only considerations are that a candidate be 16-18 years of age and hold a 'C' average or better. John's four-year cumulative average is 3.5, nearly an 'A'.

The final decision made by Vanik is based upon academic effort shown by the nominee, his interest in social studies, and his desire to serve as a page.

"I THINK WE'VE got a fine young man here," said Vanik. "We expect great things of him in the future. You know that Lyndon Johnson started as only a door-keeper in the House of Representatives."

"He's a real hard working kid," commented St. Joe Assistant Principal, Joseph Farrell. "John is quiet, but very persistent. He'll get the job done while not being overbearing."

Farrell, who was recently elected to council from Euclid's Ward One, plans to introduce a resolution honoring John at the February 4th meeting of City Council.

AND IF HIS SCHEDULE permits, John will be in Cleveland the night of June 5th to graduate from St. Joe with his classmates in a formal ceremony at Cleveland's Music Hall.

"He's a quality kid that we at St. Joe are really proud of," added Farrell.

John is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cregan. The family resides at 130 East 200th Street in Euclid.

HIS PROUD FATHER acknowledged, "We feel John is mature enough to handle the appointment. He's always been a capable son. We've got a lot of confidence in him."

For the last several years, John has been employed by Beachland Pharmacy, working after school. His employer and fellow workers think the world of him and wish him the best in his new position.

Prior to leaving for Washington, John had some last minute shopping to do. He purchased a dark blue suit, several "colorful" white shirts, and a dark, narrow tie which will serve as his identifying uniform.

BETWEEN RUNNING 20 MILES each day as a page, attending classes as a student, and observing the inner workings of the U.S. Government as a future participant, John hopes to have some free time to make a quick change of clothes, "take in the sights and meet as many people as possible."

A glamorous experience? No. But a very intriguing one. Yes!

Center...

"We pay for physical recreation through taxes. Schools are operated this way. There is no reason why a total aspect of living couldn't be paid this way," asserted the council officer. A 1969 estimate for the facility was $2.5 million.

Mrs. Stroud said her group has been "working constantly" toward the development of the center. However, she does not anticipate an effort to put the issue before the voters on the May ballot. The possibility of raising the question on the November ballot has not been discussed, she said.

MRS. STROUD ADDED that the cultural council is exploring means of financing the center through the federal government.

Mayor Knuth has taken this into consideration, but results to date have been disheartening. He has talked with government officials of Housing and Urban Development (HUD).

"I went to HUD in Chicago. They said we could get money for shrubbery, sidewalks and other things, but nothing for any major buildings," the mayor reported.

Knuth termed the future of a center as "status quo." He has amended his thoughts somewhat on the best use for Sims Park.

"I think there should definitely be a conservatory on the land. It could be a meeting place for a garden club. There could be horticulture classes held there," the mayor said.

Wilson exits court

James F. Wilson, who has been clerk of the Euclid Municipal Court for the past five years is leaving the court to return to law practice in his office in the Kapel Building, 25000 Euclid Avenue. His resignation from the court is effective January 25.

were not given sufficient time by the city to improve on their investment, Rocco explained.

Council referred to the transportation committee ordinances for recapping tires and tire leasing for the Euclid Transit System.

BOTH ORDINANCES PROVIDE for the city to advertise for bids. Council will weigh the bids and determine which avenue -- recapping or leasing -- is the best move for the city.

Leasing of tires is one of the recommendations of the Hyde Report, a study of the transit system. Consultant Donald Hyde says the city can save about $5000 yearly by leasing tires.

Council referred to the service committee an ordinance which would reaffirm the city's position of not collecting refuse from apartments, condominiums or commercial properties.

COUNCIL HAS SHIFTED SOMEWHAT from a stand in favor of the ordinance. Councilman Frederick J. Simonelli said the city "should take a second look" at refuse collection for condos, while Councilman Eckart characterized these units as "like a private home."

Council has until Feb. 18 to approve the ordinance. According to a court ruling, council must pass legislation or face a reversal of a decision handed out by the courts which says the city has the prerogative to determine whether or not it should provide the service.

Council approved resolutions of appreciation to former councilmen who were unsuccessful in their reelection bids. Resolutions went to Harry L. Burkhart, Jay W. Collins, William L. DeMora and Edward Mikovich.

MAURICE BLANCHARD IS presented with a plaque by Euclid's Mayor Harry J. Knuth for his 28 years of dedication to the city. In November of 1935, Blanchard became employed with the Euclid Municipal Transit as a service mechanic. After eight years at that position, he was promoted to foreman. For his last ten years of tenure with the city, he held the position of general foreman of maintenance. "He was an outstanding man. He was very loyal and dedicated to the city," said Anthony Sustarsic, administrative director. Blanchard plans to stay in Euclid and do some traveling. "It was hard work," he recalls. "But it was enjoyable. I enjoyed watching the system expand to its present size."

Officials discuss Kent branch

At a meeting at the office of the Board of Regents asked for by State Senator Charles P. Bolton (R-31), officials reviewed the establishment of a branch of Kent State University in Geauga County.

Present at the meeting were Dr. Adolph Norton, Chancellor of the Board of Regents; Dr. Harold Oyster, Vice Chancellor of the Board of Regents; Bolton, Senator Oliver Ocacek and Rep. Robert Levitt. All three legislators had drafted pieces of relevant legislation which were discussed.

It was learned that Dr. Glenn A. Olds, President of Kent State University, had delivered to Dr. Norton the report requested by the Board of Regents to review the circumstances of establishing a branch of Kent State University in Geauga County. With this report in hand the legislators were assured that the Board of Regents would forward their recommendations concerning release of funds which have been authorized by the Legislature for construction of the branch of Kent State in Geauga County at the time of the meeting of the Regents in February, Bolton reported.

He said the legislators were also assured that a representative of the board of Regents would come to Geauga County to visit both Kent State University Main Campus in Kent and the two facilities in Chesterland and Chardon. The legislators were told that the review presented by Kent State University contained the information which had been requested by the Board of Regents and feel that such reviews are necessary to assure proper administration of state funds and releasing appropriated funds for university capital improvements.

"We are extremely pleased that the efforts of many people have met with apparent success in terms of the Regents eminent release of funds for the much needed Geauga Branch of Kent State University," said Bolton, Ocacek and Levitt in a joint statement.

Saxophone Joe knocks 'em dead

By Timothy P. Misny
Every boy has a dream. Childhood aspirations grasp all of us, but not all realize their fantasies. WHEN EUCLID'S JOE LOVANO was five, he wished to be a saxophonist and some day play with his father, Tony "Big T" Lovano, one of Greater Cleveland's top jazz saxophonists.

And now, at the age of 21, Joe Lovano seems to have fulfilled his boyhood reveries and surpassed any realistic expectations.

He got the chance to perform with his father at the age of 13. While at Euclid High, he stole the show at all three talent shows. During this time, he had his own group and was featured at many of area night spots.

AFTER ATTENDING BERKLEE School of Music in Boston, a friend, George Barzone, told him of an opening in Tom Jones' band. Joe jumped at the opportunity. He completed a seven-month stint with the super star singer this past month and is booked to go on tour with Jones the later part of this month.

When Joe reflects on the rarity of enjoying an extended degree of success and glory at such an early age as a saxophonist, he doesn't hesitate to credit his father.

"My biggest thrill came when I got the chance to play play with my dad's group. He started me off. He would come home and practice. I'd sit there and wish that I could play like that and he would teach me. I can't tell you how grateful I am to him," commented Joe.

JOE SAID HE ENJOYS experience and exposure of playing for Tom Jones, however, he prefers to have his own group of jazz musicians. "Playing for Tom was a gas, but I'd like have my own jazz group. When you play in an orchestra, you're not creating, your just playing somebody else's music. Everytime I pick up my horn, I end up blowing something that sounds like jazz."

A musician's life offers little in the way of security and Joe has accepted this. "You're constantly on the road. It's very hard to make a living at it, the only way to do this is to be up there with the best."

"Self-satisfaction is what it's all about. A lot of people don't understand this. There's not much appreciation for jazz, it's very selective. The only reason I play, is because I love it, it's that simple," said Joe.

Few musicians have garnered so much in so little time and Joe said the reason for this is a combination of an atmosphere which was conducive to music and dedication.

"It was right there for me," remarked Joe. "With my dad practicing and listening to records, I just grew up with it. I feel there's no way anyone can master an instrument without dedicating his life to it. I don't feel that I've reached that point, but I've been working real hard at it. I played 10-12 hours everyday at Berklee and now I practice every day for at least four hours besides playing with a group.

The man who has the deepest feelings for Joe's success in music is his father, Tony. "It's beautiful! He's loved it since he was a baby. He's a natural. I'll tell you, he's one of the top sax players in the country. The only difference right now between Joe and the others is exposure. Like I said, it's beautiful!"

Vanik wants other energy explored

Rep. Charles A. Vanik said he will introduce a House Resolution requesting the President to initiate negotiations with other oil importing countries to share in the cost of development of alternative energy sources.

"The only way to control the price demands of the oil producing states is through the development of new and secure sources of energy supplies in North America and Europe," Vanik stated.

"Secretary Kissinger's initiative in calling for a 'price-control' conference of oil consuming nations" will have significance only if the question of energy development and independence receives priority. There are severe limits on what the industrial nations can do to force the price of oil lower. The fact that Western economies are hostage to oil has created a frightening instability in the international economic system. The Western economies and our monetary system will be safe only when alternatives to oil are found," Vanik contends.

He noted that this research effort must be focused on potential energy sources available to all nations.

"Clean, inexhaustible energy represents the only long-term answer to the world's future economic stability and expanding well-being. Coordinated international efforts must be directed to explore the potential of solar energy, wind power, geothermal energy, ocean thermal gradients, tidal power, hydrogen fuel, as well as fusion technology," he said.

Vanik pointed to the report that the other nations are already moving in this direction. Australia and Japan are now investigating the possibilities of joint action in developing solar energy -- an area in which both countries have a great deal of expertise.

Vanik stressed the potential of solar energy. "Along with using the sun to heat and cool our homes and offices, it is possible to supply all of our nation's electricity needs with an area of land two hundred miles long and twenty miles wide," he said.

Construction of major prototype plants could occur in ten to fifteen years with an investment of about $2 billion," Vanik added. "Ten years may appear as the distant future to some people, but tomorrow," he said.

In pointing to this Nation's own goal of achieving energy independence by mounting a large scale research and development effort, Vanik said "It is not sensible or fair to expect the American people to subsidize the development of this technology, only to have American corporations exporting this knowledge in their own profitable technical sales contracts."

"The wisest course is to establish international goals for research and to achieve these goals with a coordination of resources and expertise. The industrial nations are all in the same boat -- and its sinking for lack of energy. The need for international cooperation is obvious."

News about Your Euclid Schools
by Ted Theodore

READING LAB ENHANCES SKILLS ... "Johnny can't read" is one of the common complaints heard around the country from many parents and social commentators. The Euclid Public Schools have taken a number of positive steps to correct this, however, and an exciting new program underway at Roosevelt Elementary School, hopefully, is facing the task.

The Reading Lab is directed by teacher Mrs. Peg Mazzola and incorporates the Hoffman Laboratory System. Children are learning to read by using the equipment much like their television set at home. They're learning to read through today's media which utilizes the power of sight, color, and sound, and involves most of their senses. The T.V.-like screen is really an electronic reading viewer as students see the illuminated image with words attached and listen to a record as they wear earphones. Each child's reading skills are developed through a progressive series of programmed reading lessons.

The kids are given a chance to work individually. The skilled reader can go ahead rapidly at his own pace while those who need more time on a particular unit, have it. The students work in a sequential manner. Each day they can pick up where they left off in the Reading Lab. If they are not through with the viewer and a particular phase, they can resume from that point. Half of the class might be using the viewers while the other half will be reading orally or working with the teacher on individual problems. Helping Mrs. Mazzola is Mrs. Joan Saywell, a teacher aide.

The approach to reading at Roosevelt Elementary School already has shown excellent results. "Johnny can read!" is or will be a reality for all. Each student is given an opportunity to develop and progress at his or her own level. The Reading Lab allows for an individualized approach for each child's rate of motivation, achievement, and eventual success.

CONSUMER FAIR SCHEDULED ... Euclid High School is planning to sponsor a Consumer Fair to be held in the school's 'E' Room some time this March. Dave Schonauer, social studies teacher, is organizing the event and hopes to attract 30 to 34 area merchants who will participate in this venture. It is expected that Euclid area businessmen will provide booths and demonstrate their various retail products to the students. Schonauer hopes a jeweler might participate and show them the difference between a synthetic and real diamond, for instance. The new Mazda car has created a lot of interest and he hopes to have a wankel engine featured. Another possibility is to have a variety of motorcycles on exhibit in addition to information concerning the energy crisis and the shortage of fuel. HIGH NOTES FROM THE MUSIC DEPARTMENT ... We gleaned these bits and pieces of information from Euclid School's Music Coordinator Art Sydow, and thought you might like to hear about them.

Twenty members of Euclid High School's Orchestra string section participated in the Lake Erie League Orchestra Festival at Shaker Heights Senior High. A highlight of the day's activities included a concert by the Kent State University Symphonia as well as reading and clinic sessions.

Eighty-five members of the high school Band and Orchestra attended an open rehearsal of the Cleveland Orchestra with students from the Cleveland Institute of Music this Tuesday. This program was made possible through a grant from the Bascom Little Fund, Martha Holden Jennings Foundation, and the Ohio Arts Council ... it gave the students a unique opportunity to observe some of the world's top musicians at work.

Paula Mayer, EHS junior, was selected to play flute in the "Ohio Band Directors Conference Band," guest directed by Dr. Bencisutto, Director of Bands at the University of Minnesota. The concert will be held in the Thomas Performing Arts Building in Akron this Saturday.

Pena Realty works at conserving energy

Realtor Gus Pena of the A. M. Pena Realty Inc., Gallery of Homes has announced that his firm is taking steps to conserve energy during the current crisis.

As recommended by the Cleveland Area Board of Realtors Pena's Euclid, Mentor, and Willowick offices are closed Sundays. To further conserve vital energy supplies Pena is joining forces with nearly 1400 other gallery locations in 49 states and six Canadian provinces in "Operation Lights Out".

Primarily affected will be the Gallery's unique system of merchandising property by displaying photos of homes in large rear lighted frames or "shadow boxes".

The "Shadow box" concept will continue to be a hallmark of Gallery merchandising," Pena said, "but for the remainder of the energy crisis that lighting will be used only 12 hours a day."

An informal calculation of the kilowatt hours estimated as being saved by the Gallery action throughout the country indicated that enough energy will be saved to heat plus 80 homes each day. On the local level even more energy is being saved because of the Sunday closing, Pena stated.

Ohio has three state scenic rivers, the Little Miami, Sandusky and Olentangy. Natural Resources Director William B. Nye says the state's scenic and wild rivers program is designed to preserve Ohio's remaining quality streams.

Social Security office has speakers available

About 100 golden agers from St. William's Church heard Sara Smith, a claims representative from the new social security office at 22499 Shore Center Dr. discuss Medicare, what effect employment after retirement would have on social security benefits, and the increase in benefits due in April and June. A question and answer period followed. To arrange for a talk by a Social Security representative for your club or group, write or visit the Social Security office between 8:45 a.m. and 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday. It is also helpful to give some idea of the number of people expected to be present, and if the talk should be about Social Security in general or a specific topic, such as Medicare, disability, or survivors benefits.

It's NEW AT E.P.L.! SOUP, by Coralie Castle. Cold winter days are good days for SOUP! With all the current promotion and sales of instant and "cup-of-soup", perhaps some real cooks would be interested in preparing some real soup - the rich, hearty, sustaining soup our grandmothers used to make.

A new book at the Euclid Public Library, SOUP, by Coralie Castle, will give both new and experienced cooks many varied ideas and recipes for soup, from Oriental, European and meal-in-a-bowl types to cold and fruit soups.

Soup is considered to be one of the most ancient of foods. To bring it into your home and onto your table, visit your Euclid Public Library and reserve this practical and interesting new cook book.

Sure, you still have to pay your bills. But Master Checking makes it a lot easier.

Not that we have any magic formula.

It's just that Master Checking gives you a personal line of credit which you can draw on in two different ways: By using your own personal checks or by using special Master Checking checks.

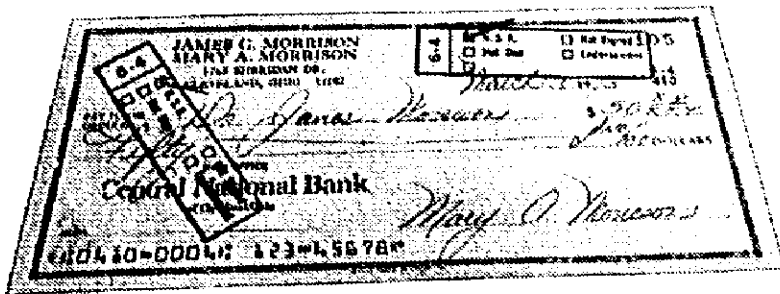

Master Checking extends the use of your Master Charge account.

It's a new way to stay on top of bill paying and gives you more flexibility in handling your money.

Two good reasons why you need Master Checking.

(1) Master Checking lets you write your own personal checks without ever worrying about overdrawing your account.

You'll never be embarrassed by bounced checks because Master Checking covers all overdrafts on your Central personal checking account, up to your Master Charge credit limit. Automatically. All overdrafts appear as cash advances on your Master Charge statement.

Bounce-free Checking.

You can even overdraw your personal checking account intentionally, for whatever reason you wish, and still be covered. Even when cash emergencies pop up and you already have a hatful of bills.

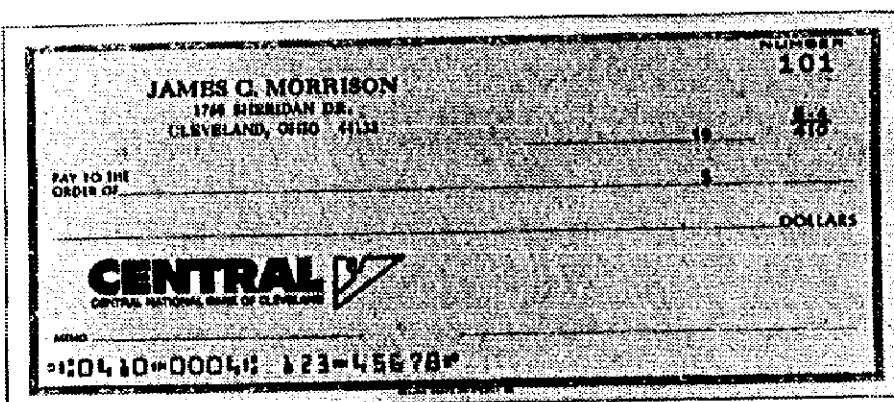

(2) You can also write special Master Checking checks supplied by your Central National Banker.

They're accepted just like your own checks. Only they work just like your Master Charge card.

Because they're charged against your Central National Master Charge account instead of your regular checking account. And they appear on your Master Charge statement as a cash advance.

Use Master Checking checks when you want to pay bills — but you don't want to disturb the balance in your personal checking account.

Or when you just don't have

Write as many as you want for as much as you want, as long as you don't exceed the limit of your Master Charge credit.

You'll receive a supply of Master Checking checks from your Central National Banker when your Master Checking application is approved.

Stay on top of bills at the stroke of a pen.

Master Checking is accepted wherever your own personal check is accepted.

So you can make payments at department stores, appliance stores or auto service garages.

Write a check to pay auto insurance, life insurance, real estate or income taxes.

Pay the doctor or dentist.

Pick up a good bargain.

Or use Master Checking to get away from it all for a little vacation.

What are you waiting for?

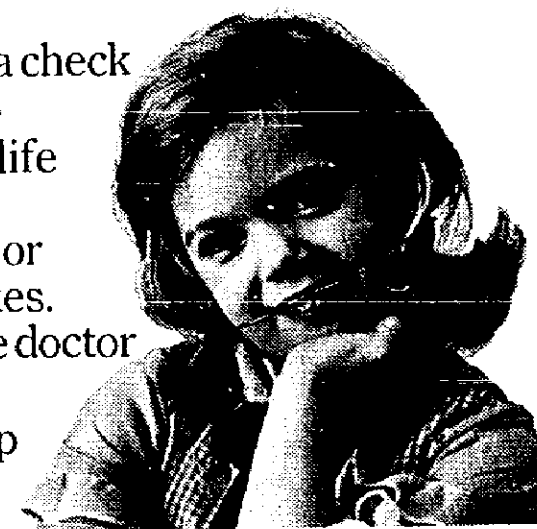

Which brings us around to the question of applying for Master Checking.

Well, it's easy. Just go see your nearest Central National Banker.

There's one waiting for you at every one of our 51 offices. He'll give you a folder that contains all the information about Master Checking along with the application.

Sure, you still have to pay your bills. But you'll find you can manage the job a lot better with Master Checking.

Ref isn't what Doc ordered

Daugherty unhappy with league secretary

By John M. Urbancich
Despite his team's 94-90 win over Cleveland Heights Friday night, Euclid basketball coach Doc Daugherty wasn't too pleased with a last-minute switch of officials prior to the game.

Daugherty objected to the change because Norm McVicker, who officiated a 91-90 Panther loss at Shaker Heights earlier this month, was assigned to work the game without the Euclid coach's knowledge.

"HE SHOULDN'T have been out there," Daugherty said. "When I saw him on the floor before the game I couldn't believe it. It seems something like this happens everytime we play Cleveland Heights the second time around."

According to the usually placid Panther mentor, McVicker, a former assistant football coach at Shaw High School and now the head grid coach at West Geauga, wasn't originally slated to work the contest.

"The other guy scheduled to work wasn't suitable to the Heights coach, though," Daugherty explained, "so the league secretary pulled him off the game and replaced him with Norm a week and a half ago."

"I don't mind a change in officials," Daugherty continued, "but nobody informed us about the switch. There's a league rule to prohibit something like this, but the league secretary tells one story and does something else.

"HE (THE LEAGUE secretary) does this all the time. He's doing a horrible job, and I don't know whether or not it has anything to do with him being a former coach at Heights."

When contacted by the News-Journal, Gail Vannorsdall, a retired teacher-coach who has held the LEL secretary post for seven years, refused comment.

"Switching officials is something that's not the business of a newspaper," Vannorsdall said. "Any changes are the responsibility of the league secretary and nobody else."

DAUGHERTY, WHO SAID THAT Euclid Athletic Director Bob Addis would file a complaint with the league, doesn't expect much to come out of the protest.

"Because we've pulled out of the league, probably not much will be done," Daugherty said. "Hopefully, though, it will help teams who have to deal with him (Vannorsdale) in the future."

"This isn't the first time I've complained," he went on. "I've raised all kinds of Cain with him on how he selects and finds officials. I think he's an excellent person and coach, but I don't think he's handling this job well at all."

DAUGHERTY, WHOSE team will leave the LEL for the new Eastern Greater Cleveland Conference after next season, said he would have asked Vannorsdall to remove McVicker from last week's game if he had known about the switch in time.

"I think Norm's a heckuva fine fellow, but being a nice guy doesn't make him a good official," Daugherty said. "I think there are times when he's out of position to make a call, and that's my gripe."

"If an official is in the right position to make a call a coach should never gripe because it's strictly a judgement call," Daugherty said.

"It's only when he is out of position to make a call, that an official hears a gripe."

Daugherty said he had no complaint about Mauri Ocourt, the other official at Friday's game.

FINGERTIP CONTROL - Although Mike English couldn't hold on to this full-court pass from Mike Rose, the Panthers used the fast break effectively enough to defeat Cleveland Heights, 94-90, in overtime Friday night. English scored 10 of his 23 points on layups.

Weekend sweep could lift Euclid into first-place tie

Although the Euclid cagers still find themselves in a second-place deadlock with Lakewood, one game behind LEL-leading Shaw (9-2), a sweep over Normandy (7-4) and Brush (2-9) this weekend could send the Panthers into a least a first-place tie.

While Euclid visits the Invader Gym tomorrow night and entertains the Arcs Saturday evening, Shaw will be visiting Cleveland Heights and Shaker Heights, neither of which is an easy prey when they play on their home courts.

SINCE THE CARDINALS defeated Heights in the first meeting between the two teams, the Tigers have won six of their last seven outings. Shaker, which plays their home games on the smallest court in the league, has already defeated Euclid this year and threw a scare into Lakewood when the Rangers visited the tiny cubicle last week.

A Shaw loss on either night and two Euclid wins would propel the Panthers, and perhaps Lakewood, who meets Garfield Heights and Parma, into a first place tie.

One person who thinks Shaw can be beaten is Euclid Mentor Doc Daugherty.

DAUGHERTY FEELS that Shaker can defeat any one of their home floor and is convinced, on the basis of Cleveland Heights' performance in its 94-90 loss in the Panther gym Friday night, that the Tigers can dent the Cardinals.

"They (Heights) have three guys who can shoot well, and I guarantee they really put a scare into us," Daugherty said after his team's overtime win last week. "I'd like to see them knock off Shaw, but we'll have to worry about our own two games."

When the Panthers visit Normandy tomorrow, the Invaders will be playing without 6-7 senior Mike Loya, out for the season after knee surgery.

"THEY MIGHT BE down," Daugherty said, "but they've got some other boys who can hurt you, too."

The last time the two teams met, Euclid rolled to a 79-57 win, but that time 6-6 Chuck Tesar was out of the Normandy lineup.

This time around, the Invaders, early season favorites for the league title, will be out for revenge.

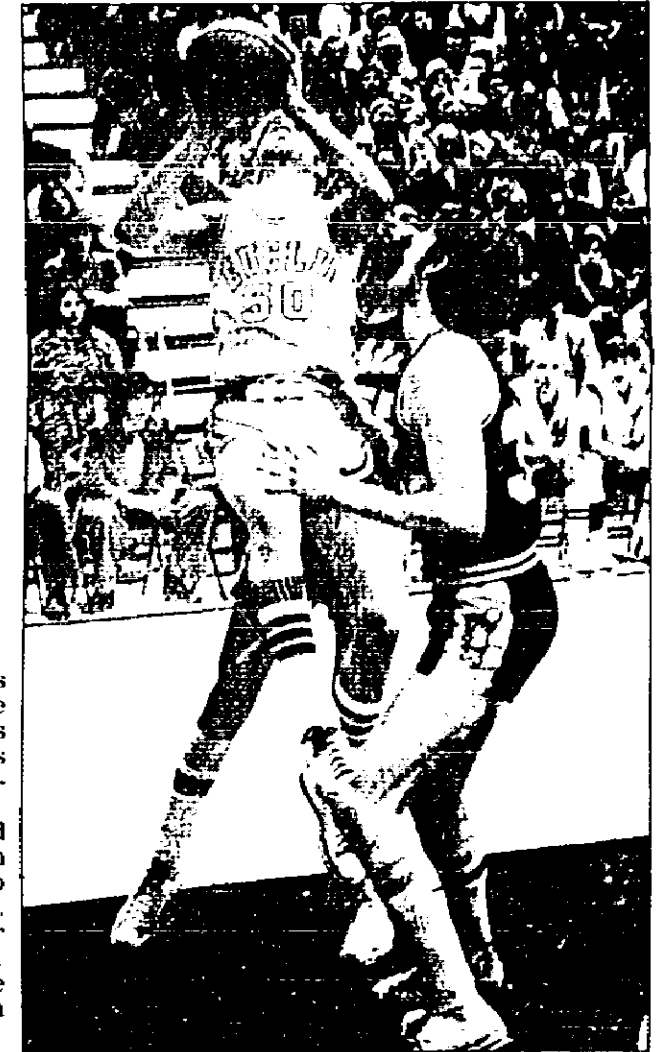

SATURDAY NIGHT the Panthers will have to contend with Brush, a team which will undoubtedly remember Euclid's 113-65 mauling earlier this season.

"I certainly don't expect to score 100 points again," Daugherty said. "I suppose they'll try to slow it down."

Last Friday Heights did everything but play slow down to take the Panthers to the limit before Euclid prevailed.

AFTER BLOWING a seven-point lead with 56 seconds left to send the game into overtime, the Panthers didn't miss a shot in the extra session to ice the verdict.

Euclid Gold Dust Twins Chuck Booms and Mike English led the attack with 31 and 23 points respectively, while Booms, with 27 rebounds, and Mike Rose, with 14, led the Panthers to a 68-35 board advantage.

AIRBORNE BOOMS - Euclid's Chuck Booms throws in two of his game-high 31 points as Cleveland Heights' Bruce Rodgers (33) and Jerry Mays (55) watch helplessly.

Panthers, Vikings disappointed with mat deadlock

By Timothy P. Misny
You can tell a lot about an athletic event by visiting the respective team quarters after the contest.

And St. Joe's and Euclid's dressing room scenes following the 22-22 deadlock on the mat last Saturday at the Vikings' den told it all.

OVER IN THE VIKES' CORNER, the usual cupcakes were being passed out, however, the recipients didn't seem to be in the mood to eat cupcakes.

The Panthers on the other hand dressed up with mixed emotions. Some grapplers apparently felt that they let the team down, while others seemed pleased with their performances.

But, thank goodness, the actual match was much more exciting than the locker room situation which ensued.

THE FINAL MATCH proved to be paradoxical, in that it was both climatic and anticlimatic.

Two of the area's top heavyweights, Viking Bob Golic and Panther Dan Fowler, both undefeated, trotted onto the mat with the scoreboard showing a 20-20 knot.

Golic a 6-2, 215-junior who was sporting a 4-0 mark, came charging at the 6-5, 215-lb. Fowler, then 6-0, and chalked up a take-down with the first period only five seconds old.

FOWLER WAS THREATENING midway in the second period when he nearly turned Golic over on his back with a cross-face, but the Viking held on and rode out the 2-2 decision. Fowler had earlier escaped twice.

"I hope I don't meet any more like him," said the muscular Fowler in reference to Golic. "He's a real good one. He's quick and strong. I'm not impressed with a 2-2 tie. If he goes to the districts, I'll beat him."

Golic, however was not nearly as verbose as was his opponent. "I'm disappointed," said the sullen Viking. "He was tough."

ST. JOE FRESHMAN MIKE Russo upped his varsity record to 3-1-1 with a 4-3 victory over Dave Arter in the 98-lb. bout.

In the 105-lb. match, Viking senior Al Lacava dominated Joe Grebenc to capture a 4-1 decision and expand St. Joe's lead to 6-0.

Vike captain Jim Replecky chalked up two points with four seconds remaining in his match on a reversal to secure a 4-4 draw with a spunky Brian Bowens in the 112-lb. class.

SENIOR KEN MARVAR followed teammate Replecky's strategy in that he waited until there was only two seconds left in the final period before he broke a 8-8 tie with a reversal on George Werling. The 119-lb. win boosted St. Joe's advantage to 11-2.

Euclid proceeded to win the next two matches to narrow their deficit to 11-8. Senior, 126 pounder Warren Andrews scored a lopsided 7-0 win over senior Barry Usko, before teammate Chuck Trepal won the 132-lb. match with a 4-2 conquest of sophomore Rich Kushan.

Vic Gridina manhandled Euclid's 138-lb. Mark Ford and the Viking walked off with a 6-4 triumph.

ST. JOE PULLED ANOTHER match out of the fire when Junior Robbie Meditz managed a reversal with 15 seconds left in the contest. Meditz beat Euclid's senior Richard Merrill 2-1, to make the score 17-8.

The Panthers relied on their upper division weights to get back into the match. The 155-lb. class was all Euclid's, as senior Tom Tabor contributed a 6-2 win over Dan Sukys. Junior Mark Paz then put St. Joe junior Joe Holtzhauser on his back to even the tally at 17-17.

Senior Al Strukel put the Vikings in front with a 2-0 squeaker over senior Don

Area divers score in national finals

The three young spring board divers who went to the 1974 National Invitational Indoor Diving Championships in Louisville, Kentucky on Jan. 19 and 20, gave superb performances.

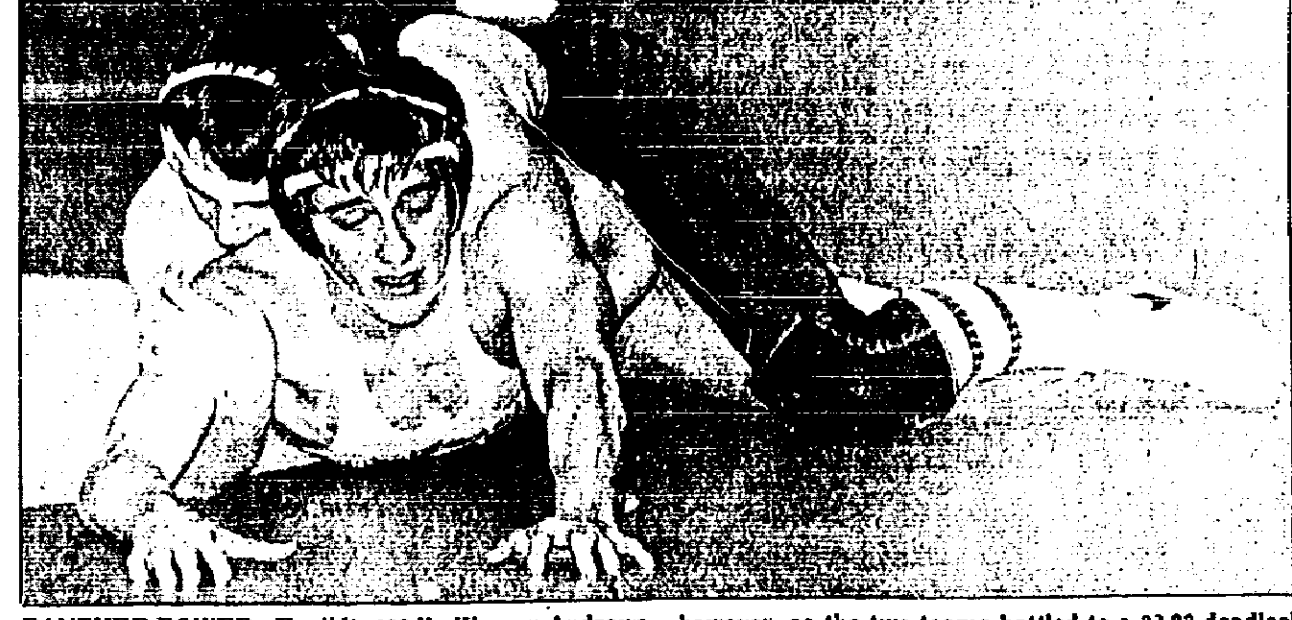

Their diving, at the Plantation Country Club, established them as among the country's best. Placing third in both high and low board competitions was Scott Harmon, a twelve-year old from Euclid Central Jr. High. In the same competitions, Alnis Cers, who attends Euclid Shore Jr. High, placed a very respectable eight on high board and tenth on low.

CHARLOTTE REAVILLE, diving in the highly-contested 13-14 division, placed fifth on high board and seventh on low board. Charlotte attends Wickliffe Jr. High.

In recent weeks, Scott has been able to beat the boy who placed second in the World Age Group Diving Championships, this past summer in Belgium.

This trio coached by Walt Harmon and Jeff Arnold dive for the A.A.U. University Diving Club.

PANTHER POWER - Euclid's 126-lb. Warren Andrews manhandles St. Joe's Barry Usko in a 7-0 superior decision. This Panther's prowess was not in a winning vane, however, as the two teams battled to a 22-22 deadlock last Saturday at the Vikings' den.

St. Joe-Wickliffe clash should pack the house

by Timothy P. Misny

If you plan to attend the cage confrontation between perennial rivals, St. Joe and Wickliffe, you best plan to go early, or don't go at all.

For the past several years, the 600-person capacity Blue Devil gymnasium has been a complete sellout. More frequently than not, fans are turned away.

"THAT PLACE WILL BE PACKED. It always is," said the Vikings' Bob Straub, "And they'll be sky-high for us. I have a feeling that they think this is the year they can beat us."

And this feeling might be more than just an inclination with Wickliffe boasting a home-court advantage and a respectable knockout.

The Vikes are coming off a pair of losses, which lowered their Crown Conference mark to 1-3 and overall tally to 4-9, while the Blue Devils boosted their overall record to 7-6 with last Friday's 74-56 home victory over Painesville Harvey.

THE RETURN OF 6-6 JUNIOR center Robbie Cook after a ten-game layoff should inspire Wickliffe. Kevin Waiter, a 6-ft. guard is the only senior who is slated to start. Joining Waiters in the back-court will be either junior Dan Stopp or senior Dave Massey. Junior Craig Salter and sophomore Mike Paschke will open at forward. Both stand 6-2.

"Of course, I'm hoping to win it," commented Straub, "I think playing away will be a big factor. I would hope that this game means something to these kids. If we play like we did this past weekend, I think we'll beat them."

Against St. Edward and Youngstown Ursuline, the Vikings enjoyed a lead during sometime of the first three quarters, however, it was the fourth quarter that did St. Joe in.

THE EAGLES CAME from behind on Friday night at St. Joe to pull out a 59-52 Crown win.

St. Ed jumped on top of a 53-52 advantage early in the fourth stanza. "We were doing real well in a zone defense then all of a sudden, we had to go to a man because we were behind and they were sitting on the ball. We were not able to handle a man-to-man coverage," commented Straub.

Junior forward John Delehanty took scoring honors for St. Joe with a game-high 19 points. Sophomore guard Jaime McGuire tallied 12, while senior forward Terry Marchusic chipped in ten.

THE VIKINGS HIT 23 out of 52 attempts from the floor for a 44 percentage and converted on six of 13 buckets at the charity stripe for a 44 percent showing.

The Irish of Youngstown Ursuline entertained the Vikes on Saturday and as it turned out, it was a show St. Joe could have done without.

St. Joe put together a big second quarter and trotted into the locker room with a 31-23 intermission lead.

URSULINE CAME OUT pressing and succeeded in shaking the Vikings as they turned the halftime deficit into a 55-50 third quarter advantage. From then on, it was smooth sailing for the Irish as they upped their lead to 72-64 before the final buzzer.

Senior captain Saul Cyvas led all scorers with 21 points. McGuire followed with 18.

"I think the kids did a helluva job both nights," said Straub, "I'm very proud of their play, they really tried. We have five games to go and I think it will be a nice conclusion if we could even our season's record at .500."

"We look forward to playing St. Joe all the time, we enjoy the competition. I think it's a good-friendly relationship. I know St. Joe is having some problems, but I have a lot of respect for them," said Wickliffe's coach Ralph Simmonds.

"It's been at least eight or nine years since we've beaten them," continued Simmonds, "We thought that we could beat them last year and we got buried, but I think we'll be in this one."

Wrestling roundup

Only North gets area mat blemish

Collinwood, Richmond Heights, and Wickliffe were all victorious, but Eastlake North, previously undefeated in GCC wrestling action, fell to Mayfield to spoil a near-perfect area wrestling weekend.

Two other local mat squads, Euclid and St. Joseph, battled to a draw (see separate story), so only the Rangers came out of the pack with a blemish on their record.

NORTH, NOW 7-2 overall and 2-1 in league matches, shouldn't have any trouble at winless Berea (0-8) tomorrow night unless it suffers a letdown from Friday's heart-breaking, 25-19 loss.

Rich Karel (8-0) North's only undefeated grappler, knotted the see-saw contest at 17-all with a 6-0 decision in his 175-lb. bout, but after the Rangers' John Moyer (185) and Mayfield's Fred Steelman battled to a 6-6 deadlock to place the burden on the heavyweights, Wildcat Rob Tripka needed just 20 seconds to end the proceedings with a pin.

Earlier winners for the Rangers were John Adams (98), Chet Green (138), Ernie Phillips (145) and Mike Vrana (167). Sal Dolce managed a draw in his 132-lb. match.

THE WIN BOOSTED Mayfield, an upset winner over Mentor two weeks ago, into a first-place tie with Maple Heights in GCC competition.

Collinwood, meanwhile, got ready for tomorrow night's showdown at South and Saturday evening's independent clash at Benedictine with a 66-6 rout of East Tech.

Dennis Kumor (126), Bill Calabrese (138) and Jeff Anger (185) remained undefeated for the Railroaders with pins, while Charlie Scaife (105), Pat Tremaglio (119), Andy Papaleo (167), Michael Downing (175) and heavy-weight Alex Rychlik also earned falls.

SENIOR CO-CAPTAIN Heywood McDuffie (145) gained a superior decision, and Jeff Phillips (155) notched Collinwood's only regular decision.

The win raised the Railroaders East Senate mark to 5-1, good for a first-place tie with JFK, and its overall record to 6-3.

Richmond Heights, another area team with its eyes on a league crown, remained deadlocked with unbeaten Beachwood in the East Suburban Conference with a pair of convincing wins.

THE SPARTANS shutout Newbury, 52-0, Friday night, and trounced Berkshire, 41-11, the following evening.

Against Newbury, Bob Majer (126), Rich Bigus (138) Bob McSween (167) and Ken Loushin (185) all garnered pins, while everyone else on the squad managed at least regular decisions.

Jim Hanson (105), McSween and heavyweight Jeff Jannik all had pins against Berkshire, and were aided by decisions from Jim Scialino (112), Majer, Bigus, Jim Bede (145) and Dale Jerse (175).

LOUSHIN WON by default and Don Richards (155) earned a 0-0 draw.

Tomorrow night, the Spartans, now 3-0 in the ESC and 5-3 overall, travel to Kirtland where Hanson and Bigus will try to improve on their 8-0 and 7-0 marks respectively.

Wickliffe, an independent squad that still boasts four unbeaten, untied grapplers, rolled to its seventh win against one loss with a 42-12 conquest of Painesville Harvey last Friday.

PHILDRENK (98), a 7-0 wrestler on the year, started the evening with a pin and the Blue Devils were never headed.

While John Paskan (185) and heavyweight Dan Vargo gained the only other Wickliffe pins, Mike Inghram (105), Bob Jareb (112), Dave Harb (119), and John Beasley (155) all took decisions.

Rich Swygart (138) and Mike Miano (167) won by default.

BESIDES DRENK,

other undefeated Blue Devils are Inghram (7-0), Beasley (5-0) and Miano (7-0).

Vargo has seven pins and a 7-1 mark, while 126-pounder Bill Dear stands at 5-2-1.

The Blue Devils, who will enjoy a weekend away from the mat wars tomorrow and Saturday, travel to undefeated Madison Friday, Feb. 1, and entertain Painesville Riverside Saturday, Feb. 2.

Richmond hopes to dump frustrations on Kirtland

But Richmond's best was obviously not good enough last weekend. On Friday evening, host Newbury came from behind to topple the Spartans in a 55-54 contest. The following night, Berkshire led throughout the game as the Badgers cranked out a 58-49 win at Cardinal.

Richmond's Eastern Suburban Conference mark slipped to 1-9, while their overall record sunk to 3-10.

"IT'S BEEN VERY, very frustrating," commented Nagy, "Right now, these boys are scrapping and working very hard, but they're trying too hard and I think that they're beating themselves."

After a pair of disappointing losses suffered last weekend, the Richmond Heights basketball squad hopes to take their frustrations out on visiting rival Kirtland tomorrow night.

"Kirtland is our number one rival," said Spartan coach Bob Nagy, "It seems every time we get going in football or basketball, Kirtland knocks us off."

"THIS GAME MEANS A LOT to the boys. We're going to do our best," continued Nagy.

Richmond Heights, another area team with its eyes on a league crown, remained deadlocked with unbeaten Beachwood in the East Suburban Conference with a pair of convincing wins.

THE SPARTANS shutout Newbury, 52-0, Friday night, and trounced Berkshire, 41-11, the following evening.

Consistency and poor shooting are our main problems. We're causing the turnovers, but we're not consistently taking advantage of them. We just can't win with the type of shooting that we have," remarked Nagy.

Newbury trailed Richmond for three-quarters of the game, however, a late rally propelled the Black Knights past a poor-shooting Spartan quintet.

IN THAT FINAL period, Richmond missed six foul line shots, three of which were one-on-one situations and five easy layups. The Spartans hit 37 percent of their shots from the field, while the Badgers connected on 38 percent of their shots attempted. From the foul line, Richmond sank six of 13 shots for a 46 percent accuracy mark, and Berkshire nailed 21 of 31 baskets at the charity stripe for a 67 percent showing.

Against Newbury, senior John Owens and junior Jeff Champa contributed 20 points apiece. Champa, a 6-4 center, collared 15 rebounds and blocked three shots.

THE BERKSHIRE GAME on Saturday was REACHING FOR THE MOON - St. Joe's Saul Cyvas (44) and St. Ed's Chuck Lunk (55) reach high for a rebound during the Eagles 59-52 win last week.

CRUSADERS CONVENIENT FOOD MART STICK DAY

HOPEFUL OF RECALLING the good old football days from 40 years ago are members of the Euclid Kiwanis State Amateur Championship team shown here. One of the squad members, George "Mike" Marsh, (first row, far left) was inducted into the Euclid Kiwanis last night and has issued an invitation for "the boys" to meet on Wednesday evening, February 13th. That's the night of the Euclid Kiwanis Spaghetti Dinner Benefit to be held at Forest Park Junior High. Tickets are being sold by Kiwanis members. Many familiar names dot the roster of the Kiwanis team which gained wide recognition from 1931 through 1935. Sons and grandsons of the players have performed for Euclid, St. Joseph, Collinwood, Latin, St. Ignatius, Willoughby South and Richmond Hts. Some of the above squad members who were able to identify besides Mike Marsh include: Victor Green, Joe and John Sintic, Steve, Eli and Bill Fox, Bill and Clarence Shea, Lou Sajovic, Lou Noda, Ted Noda, Vince Pontoni, Len Sadosky, Frank Samsa, Dan Iafelice, Felix Iafelice, Elmer Springer, Chuck Lampe, Pete Bitante, Yak Percek, Bim Hyllinski, Frank and Gerard Montana, Joe Novak, Harold Pierce and Len Hardwood. Some of the members have passed on but we understand many still reside in Euclid and the Greater Cleveland area.

Never-say-die Railroaders split two

By Neal Jacobs

The Collinwood Railroaders will not win, show or place in the East Senate scramble this year. But they certainly have some say as to who will.

Friday night, Collinwood out-hustled host Benedictine to a 60-57 overtime win in independent action. The following night the Railroaders found themselves holding the short end of a 79-53 decision to Senate leading John F. Kennedy in a squabble best described as the "Boston Massacre."

LAWRENCE BOSTON, 6-8 senior center for JFK, dominated the game in a way not seen since Sitting Bull hosted General Custer. Boston eclipsed two of his own previous school records by connecting on 19 field goals and 42 total points.

"Boston is probably the best in the city," praised Collinwood head Coach Roy Berger. "We just couldn't contain him."

And no wonder. Collinwood's center Roland McDougal yields almost a half a foot in height and some 50 pounds to the behemoth Boston. The regular Railroader center, 6-5 Homer Pierce, is out of intensive care and will soon be attending classes. Pierce is coming off mononucleosis and a severe sinus operation.

FROM THE OPENING tipoff, coincidentally won by Boston, Kennedy dominated. The Eagles out-rebounded Collinwood 46-20 with Boston (ho-hum) taking game honors again with 18. Kennedy meshed 35 of 74 from the floor to 23 of 63 for Collinwood.

High men for Collinwood were senior co-captain McDougal and junior Percy Hayes each netting 14 points.

Collinwood never gave up, however, as it hustled up every inch of the floor. At times the gutsy Railroaders looked impressive on defense. Besides Boston's tea party, the highest Kennedy scorer had eight points.

BUT FRIDAY BEST typified the kind of never-say-die perseverance Berger instills.

The favored Bengals of Benedictine came out roaring in the first stanza on both ends of the court amassing a 16-4 lead. The second quarter looked equally fruitless as the Bengals lead rose to 24-4.

Berger then called timeout and dipped into his bench, coming up with a new guard tandem. Joe Redrick and Herschel Barnes were the instigators in a dynamic Railroader about face. Faultless floorplay and fierce forecourt furor furthered and fatigued the bedazzled Bengals. Collinwood's clangor continued and carried through the third quarter with 6-2 forward Stan Johnson displaying devastating defense. Heading into the final period Collinwood held a 42-37 lead.

BUT THE FUN had only begun.

At 2:08 on a jumper by Al Keller, the Bengals caught Collinwood at 50-all. The game then continued to shift back and forth. Collinwood co-captain Rob Norton tied it all up at :32 on a disputed goaltending call. With :09 on the clock, Benedictine failed to shut the door missing a one and one free throw. On another disputed call, Charles Harper's last second basket was ruled after the buzzer thrusting the contest into overtime.

Two foul shots by Hayes and a Redrick jumper accounted for the Collinwood scoring giving the spirited Railroaders a hard-fought 60-57 verdict.

COLLINWOOD HAS now won two out of their last three and stands 4-10 overall. They are 2-7 in the tough East Senate. Tomorrow, the Railroaders oppose Glenville and John Adams Saturday night. Both affairs are at Collinwood's new home.

"We'll have to act the roll of Senate spoilers," said Berger. "We have a little revenging to do for a few wipe-outs."

Berger's Railroaders never forget -- never-say-die.

Junior High Notes

Euclid Central's wrestling Lions posted their fifth straight victory when they defeated South Euclid rival Greenview, 42-25.

The Lions led 45-6 at one point and then held on as Greenview's upper weights showed outstanding strength.

PINNING FOR THE Lions were captain Daryll Fanney, Louis Dommer, Jim Claybough and Randy South.

Earning decisions were Jeff Szalay, Bob Pukko, Scott Remnick, Dan Stermole, Gary Shay, Walt Stipkovich and Shawn Kahl.

The Lions face their toughest opponent of the year this afternoon when they travel to Memorial to face the undefeated Mustangs.

SURGING TO A 15-2 first quarter lead, the Shore cagers never had to worry as they blasted South Euclid Memorial 45-27 last Thursday.

The Admirals held the visitors to a mere eight points during the entire first half with a tenacious defense. Coach Bill Howell eased up during the third quarter by giving all his boys a chance to play.

Eighth grader Mike Lynn led the Shoreites with 10 points, but John Trommelter was close behind with nine. Also scoring were Hal Daugherty and Ron Ranallo (6), Dave Sexton and Bob Gilbert (4), Spencer Brady (3), Dave Fraznovsky (2), and Jeff Lane (1).

AGAINST CENTRAL, the FP quickness was unable to contend with the Lion height; and lost the game on the boards as Central repeatedly put up second and third shots.

Again Joe Hegedus led the Rangers with 14 points.

were Don Willingham, Joe Hanak, John Leovich, Tom Young and Ken Dorsch. Trommelter led the team in rebounds.

The Admirals, now 6-1 for the season, played at Wickliffe Tuesday and travel to Forest Park this afternoon in an important game.

Shore's faltering wrestlers dropped their third meet of the season last Thursday to South Euclid Memorial. The score was 19-53.

TOM WANDERSLEBEN scored the Admirals' only pin of the afternoon. Decisions were taken by Brad Kuzik, Walt Wolski, Bill Walter and Captain Marty La Cava.

The Forest Park basketball team opened the year 1974 with a 35-30 win over Hawken, a 50-41 win loss to Central and a 42-40 victory over Mayfield.

The scrappy little Rangers broke on top of Hawken and never gave up the lead, shooting 38 percent from the field and 65 percent from the foul line.

AGAINST CENTRAL, the FP quickness was unable to contend with the Lion height; and lost the game on the boards as Central repeatedly put up second and third shots.

Again Joe Hegedus led the Rangers with 14 points.

Lee Lumudue had his finest game of the year with six assists and 10 points.

The Rangers held the Wildcats of Mayfield scoreless until the final seconds of the first quarter, but the visitors got hot in the second stanza and took a 21-20 halftime lead.

STRONG SHOOTING and tight defense in the second half gave the FP five the win, however.

Dan Misch took scoring honors with 19 points, while Hegedus, Lumudue and Don Iavec tossed in eight, seven and four respectively.

On the mat scene, the Rangers have split a pair of matches since the first of the year.

PILING UP A 24-0 lead with four straight forfeit wins, the Rangers held on to rout Cathedral Latin, 59-15, but key losses in two weight classes cost them a 45-30 decision to Mayfield.

AS HAS BEEN the case all year, the Rangers grabbed a quick lead over Mayfield on decisions by Randy Turk and Scott Lichvar and a forfeit to Mike Cefaratti.

Bob Tutolo added six more points with his second straight pin, before Mayfield got tough.

The Wildcats rolled through the next six matches until an aroused Jeff Wanchmiss flattened his opponent in 30 seconds, and Art McCauley picked up six more points on a forfeit.

Euclid icers sweep two

The Euclid icers, who had played most of their previous games against Division AAA and AA competition, vented their frustrations against two Division A opponents routing Parma 8-1 at Northfield Friday night and thumping Valley Forge, 10-3, the following evening.

The Panthers took a 1-0 lead at the :38 second mark of the first period against Parma when Bob Sidak scored with assists from Mike Calabrese and Mike Vidmar.

WHEN THE PARMA coach pulled his first-string goalie Bob Hadden, the Panthers really exploded on substitute Jim Kriger, ramming home five goals in the second period.

Calabrese, Jim Barta, Sidak, Vidmar and Doug Jones all rammed home tallies to shut the lights on the Redmen.

With Hadden back in the nets in final period, Vidmar and Chuck Ljubi added two more Euclid tallies before Parma finally scored at the 12:58 mark.

AGAINST THE PATRIOTS, the Panthers scored three goals in each of the first two periods and four in the third to completely dominate the visitors. Calabrese and Vidmar both scored the three-goal hat trick, while John Primeau, Denny Carter, Jones and Sidak added the other four goals.

Roger Snyder, the Panther goalie, stopped eight Patriot shots and allowed two goals in two periods of work, and Dan Farizel allowed one score and made six saves in the final period.

"THE NORTHFIELD rink has some really live boards which provided the impetus for our entire weekend," Panther coach Alex Dzerowicz said. "When the puck moves as fast as it was, it makes for a very fast game. The boys were up to it and skated well."

"The Valley Forge game carried the effects of a big goal production the night before, and we were able to score six goals before they dented the net."

"There was some sloppy, loose defensive work which cost us a few goals, though, and we'll have to tighten that up before we start playing some tough competition again," Dzerowicz continued.

THE PANTHER MENTOR said he was very pleased with the work of Calabrese and Vidmar, Euclid's hat trick duo.

"Mike Vidmar has been consistent for us all year, but Mike Calabrese is certainly a pleasant surprise," he said.

"Here's a guy who only last year didn't have much of a chance to make the team, but by sheer determination and hard work won a spot in the starting lineup."

"HE'S LIKE A human eggbeater out there. He gives you 100 percent all the time."

The Panthers presently 5-5-1, will try to raise their record above the .500 mark when they entertain Normandy Saturday at 9:15 p.m.

'Come Blow Your Horn' at Smith's

Smith's popular dinner theater will present its 12th show "Come Blow Your Horn" for six performances starting tomorrow. The show also will be offered Saturday and Feb. 1, 2, 8 and 9.

Special performances have been scheduled also for the Euclid Kiwanis Club and a music scholarship benefit.

THE COMEDY WAS a popular movie starring Frank Sinatra a few years back.

In the Sinatra part is Bob Wilson, who has been seen in such Euclid Little Theater shows as "No Time for Sergeants," "The Devil's Advocate" and many others. An interesting fact is that Wilson is playing the older brother for the supper theater but when ELT did it a few years back he played the younger brother.

Carol Klevay, who delighted many in the dinner theater show "A Shot in the Dark," makes a return appearance as a kooky gal who is desperate to get a chance in Hollywood.

BILL BECERKA, formerly with the Southwest Cultural Arts Association players, is making his Euclid debut as the young brother who takes over his older brother's apartment and love life.

Barbara Hark plays Wilson's girl friend who is anxious to marry and settle down to keep her wandering fiancé close to the home fires.

Jim Albrecht, who has been seen in "The Odd Couple" and half a dozen other dinner theater plays, and Elaine Setnik, who just finished playing the lead female role in "Fiddler on the Roof" for the Richmond Heights Little Theater, should steal all the comedy scenes with strong portrayals as the father and mother.

Reservations may be made by calling Smith's Restaurant at 732-9900. Dinner is at 6:30 p.m., with showtime scheduled for 8:30 p.m.

BROADWAY IS MY BEAT

By JOE SASSO

Cast of Characters - JOHN WAYNE's estranged wife, PILAR, who's divorcing Duke after 20 years of marriage, and ANDY WILLIAMS are a new twosome around the Hollywood night spots... GINGER ROGERS' ex-spouse, JACQUES BERGERAC and a lovely starlet are the most unusual wosome twosome at some of the East Side chic spots these moonlit eves... The hottest celeb party in the posh Palm Springs area is the birthday party that FRANK SINATRA hosted for his lovely mother, DOLLY.

In The Wings - CARY GRANT, who's been in retirement for over a decade, is now ready to star in at least one more major movie - providing a truly unusual script can be had to make all that work worth his while. It's that old artistic yearning to be back in the limelight (à la Frank Sinatra) but as SINATRA tells it: "Money is great, but you can't hear it applaud!"

Eastside, Westside, All Around The Town - DICK CAVETT says he's never had MARK SPITZ on his show because of the way it would sound on on-the-air promos: "Next week - Mark Spitz on Dick Cavett..." JACQUES BELLINI the fashion designer was approached by one of the largest Wall Street underwriters to go public. Bellini refused this, saying, "I make only exclusives... I'll Go Private!"

Footlights & Static - BURT REYNOLDS gifted DINAH SHORE with a video tape machine to commemorate the celebration of the second anniversary of their meeting. What did she give him? Well, she's had a poolroom and sauna installed in her home. And Dinah neither plays pool nor takes saunas... The auction of MARILYN MONROE's personal papers turned out to be a not-so-much. The material put on the block by Parke Bernet related mainly to Marilyn's younger years, before she became a star. There were some letters from her first husband, JAMES DOUGHERTY, but none from JOE DIMAGGIO or ARTHUR MILLER, her other two husbands... When producer ANDREW J. FENADY signed ELSA LANCHESTER as one of the many stars for his Bing Crosby Productions feature "Terror in the Wax Museum," the widow of the great CHARLES LAUGHTON had no qualms about appearing in a horror movie. "After all," she told me, "I practically launched horror movies in 1936 when I was 'The Bride of Frankenstein.' This is the only one of the lot since then that I think matches that picture..." Although a mite shaken by the recent rip-off at his Hollywood Wax Museum where vandals destroyed about 30 mannequins of the famous and infamous worth some $30,000, SPOONY SINGH hasn't lost his sense of humor. He noticed that the wax figure of Mahatma Gandhi was only slightly damaged, and being a true blue Indian-horn follower of the great leader, he decided to take it home and fix it for himself. Spoony placed the Mahatma in the front seat beside him and took off only to run into the inevitable motorcycle cop on the freeway, where he was handed a speeding ticket. "What if I told you my friend here was doing the driving," Spoony joshed, and quickly decided the officer was not without a sense of comedy himself as he stared at the loinclothed Gandhi. "If he was," said the cop, "I'd nail him for both speeding and indecent exposure."

'Bus Stop' makes stop at North Hi

Following a full week of tryouts, the cast for this year's play "Bus Stop," has been announced by North High School drama director, Chuck Wood.

Included in the cast are Jim Luzar, Debbie Tisovec, Linda Possumato, Steve Hanson, Mary Holenka, Jay Marshfield, Rick Klimek and Bob Baker.

"Bus Stop," written by William Inge, tells the dramatic story of a young southern beauty (Debbie Tisovec) being pursued by a spunky cowboy (Jim Luzar) who is ready to whisk her away to some distant ranch and marry her, even against the wishes of the girl.

OTHER UNUSUAL people become involved when a sudden snowstorm forces them to remain for several hours in a small diner in Kansas.

Included are the bus driver (Rick Klimek) who has something going with the owner of the diner (Linda Possumato). Adding interest to the play is a former college professor (Steve Hanson) who makes an attempt to win the affections of a teenage girl (Mary Holenka) who works at the diner.

Rounding out the cast are the cowboy's sidekick (Jay Marshfield) and the town sheriff (Bob Baker).

ASSISTING WOOD in the production will be a well qualified crew including student director Kathy Bell, stage manager Lois Dannemiller, house manager Lori Goerz, and ticket manager Kathy Quaidler. Also assisting will be Art Iacofano who is doing his student teaching under Wood for the next 10 weeks.

Admission price for the March 8, 9, 15, and 16 productions is $1.

Write your requests for tickets to Drama Department, North High School, 3401 Stevens Blvd., Eastlake, Ohio, 44094.

Yankovic plays for Jaycees in Wickliffe

The Chardon Jaycees are sponsoring a benefit dance, featuring Frank Yankovic and his Yanks, for the Hattie Larlham Home for mentally retarded children. The dance will be held tomorrow at the new Knights of Columbus Hall on Euclid Avenue in Wickliffe.

Tickets and/or table reservations may be made by contacting the Knights of Columbus Hall in Wickliffe, or writing the Chardon Jaycees. Tickets are $6 per person which will include all refreshments and door prizes.

THE HATTIE Larlham Foundation is specifically designed to give particular medical, professional and domestic attention to the mentally and physically handicapped child under six years of age. The Hattie Larlham Home, located in Mantua, has acquired the reputation as the finest institution of its kind in Ohio.

The State of Ohio will not finance services for handicapped people under age six. The Chardon Jaycees, as well as other Jaycees and Jaycee wives organizations in Northeast Ohio, have helped to raise these necessary operating funds in the past.

Hattie Larlham started her work when she opened a 50 crib hospital in 1965 and has since expanded to accommodate some 100 handicapped children. Many groups have requested table reservations. The Chardon Jaycees will reserve tables for groups of 10 - 16 people. Tickets and table reservations may be purchased by calling the Wickliffe Knights of Columbus at 585-5405.

Lights, camera, Koval

By Murray Koval

Up, up, and away

Once upon a time, so the story goes, there was a little boy named Peter Pan who not only refused to grow up, but captured the hearts of three "Darling" children. Now, there is a Peter Pan who is capturing the hearts of thousands more children and adults alike.

A week ago Wednesday night, a lavish $1 million live presentation of this famous classic opened at the Cleveland Arena downtown. Starring such well known personalities as Peter, Wendy, Captain Hook and Tiger Lily, the Arena production is a joy to behold for young and old alike.

THE HISTORY of Peter Pan goes back to 1904 when it was first produced on the London stage. Sir James Barrie, was walking through a London park when he heard some children talking about a never land where kids play right before they drift into the semi-world of sleep. He made it into a play and it has been going ever since.

For some strange reason, the part of Peter has always, with two exceptions, been played by a girl.

This production is no exception. Cast in the title role is famous Olympic gymnast Cathy Rigby.

Cathy, who is four feet, 11 inches, utilizes her gymnastic ability to fly, tumble and cavort around the Arena like a real Peter Pan probably would.

THE FLYING is accomplished through a monorail type system set up high above the Arena floor.

Attaching herself to this rail by extended wires, Cathy swoops and soars over the assembled crowd with the greatest of ease.

Utilizing taped voices for the talking and singing, the producer Michel Grilikhes has the entire cast pantomiming with clockwork precision the difficult but fascinating performance.

Grilikhes, who produced the last three Disney on Parade productions, has found numerous creative ways to obtain the fullest use of Cathy's talents as Peter Pan.

The story, as almost everyone knows, concerns Peter Pan, a legendary boy who ran away from home the day he was born to a far away island called Never-Never Land. This island is inhabited by children, Pirates, Indians and fairies: just the type of neighbors that children would pick if they were starting their own housing project.

THERE IS Tiger Lily, the Indian princess who leads her brave band of warriors against the boys and the pirates until a truce is formed. There is the infamous Captain Hook, who likes to be known as the meanest, dirtiest, trickiest, slickest pirate that ever sailed the seas and an assortment of animals that are the cutest things you would ever want to see.

As all good fairy tales, this one has a happy ending with Peter and the boys conquering the pirates, making peace with the Indians, and Captain Hook meeting his maker in the form of a Crocodile who has an appetite only for him.

The Darling children who were absolutely darling fly back to their home accompanied by the lost boys from Never Never Land and Peter promises to come for Wendy at least once a year and take her back to fantasy.

THE ACTORS in the show, numbering close to 100 do a magnificent job and indeed one would hope they perform their parts continuously until a year from now when they can come back for a repeat performance. The music is absolutely stupendous, with such vibrant numbers as: "Tender Shepherd," "Indian Dance," "Hook's Tarantella," and "Youth, Joy and Freedom."

Opening night brought out a standing room only crowd at the Arena filled with smiling faces of kids, their parents, and more kids.

There were celebrities; such as County Auditor George Voinovich, who brought his entire family and others who just wanted to have a great time.

SHOWTIMES ARE 7:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10:30 a.m., 3 p.m. and 7:30 p.m. Saturdays, and 1:30 and 6 p.m. Sundays. There will be shows through Sunday.

With 'The Celebration'

Johnny Albano stars at Charterhouse

Take the cozy atmosphere of the Old World Tavern, add its friendly personal service and blend the spell-binding sounds of "Frank Albano and the Celebration" and you come up with a sensational recipe for a truly entertaining evening at the famed Charterhouse, 24800 Euclid Avenue in Euclid.

Frank Albano, known throughout the Greater Cleveland area for his association with "The Losers", has found another group, "The Celebration," that has been captivating audiences at the Charterhouse for several weeks now.

"IT IS NOT OFTEN that you find four equally talented musicians in one group with each one deserving star billing," boasts Charterhouse general manager, Bill McCafferty.

The lineup of "The Celebration" includes Tom Nicastrro, drums; John DePalma, guitar; Albano, organ and Jack Peterson, lead singer. "Their four-part harmony and individual solos have been electrifying the air and the Tavern's audiences," reports McCafferty.

"The Celebration's versatility is displayed by their middle-of-the-road approach to music as the group is equally adept at selections from Johnny Cash to Johnny Mathis; from "Fiddler on the Roof" to "Love Story" and all musical beats and notes in between.

AN EVENING at the Charterhouse with Albano and company is one night of vast music and comedy. Frank Albano and "The Celebration" is a must on anyone's night-out schedule of entertainment.

The Charterhouse, with its reputation of the best in entertainment has this winning combination together for the visitor's enjoyment Thursday through Saturday until February 3rd.

LCC slates musical tribute

What promises to be one of the biggest concerts of the season will be staged at Lakeland Community College February 10 when the Lakeland Civic Chorus and the Lakeland Jazz Forum join with the Lakeland Civic Orchestra to present a special salute to America and its history.

Approximately 150 professional and amateur musicians from Lake, Ashtabula and Cuyahoga counties will be combining their talents for the patriotic program, the theme of which is "America is Beautiful".

THE EVENT MARKS the first time that the three musical organizations, sponsored by Lakeland Community College have appeared together in concert.

The 75-member Lakeland Civic Orchestra, under the direction of John H. Cox, will perform Morton Gould's "American Salute"; William Bergsma's "Paul Bunyan Suite"; and Aaron Copland's "Lincoln Portrait".

WDOK's Wayne Mack will narrate the "Lincoln Portrait". MUSIC DIRECTOR AND announcer Mack has been with WDOK since its inception in 1950 and writes much of its image material, including the popular profiles to the months.

Mack, one of the long-established people in Cleveland radio, has written literally thousands of scripts for radio dramas, variety shows, popular and classical concert programs over the years, and has produced and announced innumerable network programs originating from Cleveland, including two seasons of Cleveland Orchestra broadcasts from Severance Hall and the famed "Wings Over Jordan" choral programs on CBS, together with countless chamber music and pop orchestra broadcasts.

He studied at the Cleveland Institute of Music for several years, majoring in voice and music theory. Private study was under the tutelage of Nevada VanderVeer and Maria Mariani Guidi, former mezzo-soprano with the Rome Opera Theater.

A FREQUENT SOLOIST and recitalist, he has appeared in several seasons at Musicarnival and Cleveland 500 productions at Public Hall.

The Lakeland Civic Chorus, directed by Romeo Pallante, has chosen 11 works by 20th century

OBITUARIES

St. Joe's has many organizations of which it can boast of, but the biggest and most well known is the Viking Band.

The first order of business each year is the preparing for the marching season and half-time shows.

Now after the football season is over, most people consider the band's work for the year done.

BESIDES THE BASIC requirements there are many other musical activities to become involved with.

In addition to being active in music, the band takes part in many other activities.
